RESEARCH AREA

Our research interest focuses on non-invasive cardiovascular imaging to improve cardiovascular risk assessment and clinical outcomes. In addition, the research group conducts research projects aiming to improve diagnostic imaging efficacy using artificial intelligence techniques such as deep learning and radiomics.

TECHNIQUES AVAILABLE IN THE LAB

State of the art clinical imaging equipment (photon-counting CT, 1.5T and 3T MRI machines, X-ray machines, ultrasound, PET/CT and SPECT) and image postprocessing software and hardware tools.
